Faculty not interested at this time to update and resubmit. 11/2/15 CID report: Course Content topics are very broadly outlined and include the Arts of Africa, Oceania, and Indigenous North America (C-ID ARTH140). However, the additional content listed, including Pre-Columbian America, Southeast Asia, China, and Japan is beyond the COR (too much other) as described in C-ID ARTH 140, and risks students receiving too broad a study of the primary content of the ARTH140 course. The additional content should be removed. Methods of Evaluation MUST include "1. Written essays and/or research projects AND 2. Essay exams." "May include but are not limited to:" implies that the essay exams may be optional.

*Please note that AARTS 220, 230, 240, 260, 280, 281, and 282 will no longer be reviewed. You may ask Articulation officer if you have questions on how a courses may qualify for an ADT based on AAM. *In Spring 2016 the Studio Arts FDRG revised the manner in which certain descriptors are included in the Studio Arts TMC by allowing for Articulation Agreement by Major (AAM) for the following descriptors: ARTS 220, ARTS 230, ARTS 240, ARTS 260, ARTS 280, ARTS 281, and ARTS 282. Colleges that already received C-ID approval can continue to use the descriptors on their ADT degree while allowing for AAM on the TMC for those without C-ID approval. As a result of this revision C-ID no longer accepts submissions for the descriptors. The submissions from your college did not receive a determination so that it why those do not appear in your queue.

Alkenes are a required family of compounds that need to be covered in the content. Without descriptions, or even titles, of experiments it is not clear if these are "hands-on" laboratories, what modern instrumentation is used, and/or if multistep synthesis is performed. Please, add the necessary details to the COR. The textbook should also be updated for recency. We have approved the CHEM 160S for RCCD CHEM 12A and 12B

After a complete review by the C-ID Math Reviewers (CORE's), the submitted course Math 6, Discrete Mathematics for Computer Science from Riverside City College is conditionally approved for the requested C-ID descriptor of Math 160. The submitted COR aligns with some of the areas of the C-ID descriptor. It is unclear if the submitted course outline includes the following required C-ID course objectives: use recursion to analyze algorithms and programs; write proofs using symbolic logic and Boolean Algebra; use sets to solve problems in combinatorics and probability theory; apply matrices to analyze graphs and trees; and use finite state machines to model computer operations. It appears that the submitted COR's only textbook has a publication date of 2006. In keeping with established articulation policies, it is expected that at least one of the textbooks will have a publication date within seven (7) years of the course outline approval date. Should the course be revised based on the provided recommendations, that is, contain all the required items of the descriptor, and then resubmitted, the C-ID designation of Math 160 will be awarded.

Missing credible health information - "making healthy choices" does not encompass being able to identify credible sources of health information. Course Objectives/Student Learning Outcomes meet requirements? Answer: No Comment: Missing the following: Describe the six dimensions of wellness (physical, emotional intellectual, social, spiritual, and environmental) and their interrelationship. Recognize the stimulus leading to violence and be able to minimize its occurrence. Describe the role of substance use and abuse in our society and its impact on the individual, the community, the economy and the social structure. Analyze personal and family health as it relates to human sexuality, relationships, sexual orientation, and parenthood. Identify and discuss specific preventative measures to reduce the risk of various diseases and infections, unintended pregnancies, violence, and addiction. Examine the physiological, emotional, psychological and sexual aspects of aging. Describe the inter-relationship between human beings and their environment. Identify common practices and attitudes that contribute to accidents on a personal and community level and strategies that would reduce their occurrence. Analyze the health care delivery system, including inequities and discrepancies Interpret and evaluate health and medical information from general and subject specific library and web sources. Not Approved. 11/2/15 CID report: The Psy33 course submitted by Moreno Valley College is a class in personality per se, and does not correspond to C-ID 115—Psychology of Personal and Social Adjustment. On 12/11/20 the new PSY-10 course was submitted for C-ID PSY 115 instead, which appears to match the C-ID descriptor.

1) Prerequisites: The following prerequisites are needed: 1) Introductory Psychology 2) Statistics 2) Course Content: Course content does not include: 1) critically evaluating research reports 2) consideration of ethical issues related to research in psychology The COR includes "using APA or ASA format in writing papers", but the descriptor calls for proficiency in APA style. Although it's fine to include ASA format, there should be some assurance that APA format will be covered and not merely an option. 3) Course Objectives: Objectives related to research ethics and proficiency in use of APA format are needed. 4) Textbooks: These examples are too focused for Social Science research; emphasis on Sociology. Need more Behavioral Science design and analysis.
