

FLEX POLICY

FLEX is designed to enhance faculty development. By law, each RCCD faculty member is responsible for the development of his or her plan for professional and/or personal growth for the purpose of instructional development within the confines described in the RCCD contract.

The RCCD FLEX obligation is 24 hours per year (effective July 1, 2013- June 30, 2014). Faculty have broad discretion about how they complete the 24 hours as long as they gain department approval.

Individual flex activities are approved by departments or (if designated by the department) by department chairs. The administration plays NO role in approving FLEX individual activities. The Vice President's office on each college is responsible for recordkeeping.

State regulations require careful tracking of hours and verification of time (Title V Section 55727 & 55728) through sign-in sheets, ticket stubs, examples of work, etc. The Vice President's Office is reminded by the State Chancellor's Office that thorough record keeping is their obligation. The state has the right to audit each college's records to verify completion.

Since FLEX hours must be completed, or pay withheld, your individual FLEX activities are important. If you have completed an Individual Activity, please forward evidence of that completion at your earliest convenience.

If you need assistance please contact the appropriate flex support person for your college:
